OUT ON THE LIMB
with George Vierhus

DISTINCTIVE MARKINGS for businesses for easy identification purposes have become a necessity as part of any overall advertising program.

Some firms that have many branches (especially eating places) even have distinctive building designs (such as "Jack-in-the-Box" etc.) And one couldn't miss 'em if one tried.

Obviously the purpose is to make the general public aware of the business. Those firms that use a number of vehicles generally also have them marked or painted distinctively.

Some of the markings on the vehicles can be as flamboyant as the unique building designs.

-O-

BUT IN OTHER CASES, just the paint job on a car without a sign of any description is enough to establish the sought-after recognition.

It is even unnecessary for the paint job to be garish or loud.

A case in point would the limousine fleet of John Faber's Campbell Memorial Chapel.

Instead of the conventional basic black that traditionally seems to be associated with funeral homes, the limousines of the Campbell Memorial Chapel have long been painted a deep, subdued rich brown.

-O-

AFTER ALL THE years in which these limousines have wended their solemn and sad way leading funeral processions through the streets of the town from the Campbell Ave. mortuary, their distinctive chapel-brown hue has certainly become a sort of "trademark" so to speak for the funeral parlor.

And, as they are nine-passenger jobs, even when the vehicles are on routine assignments other than their basic but somewhat mournful function, they are easily identified.

-O-

YOU MIGHT SAY it is sort of an occupational hazard. The identification often causes concern on the part of the person who has spotted one of the nine-passenger brown jobs on, say, a residential street in front of a house in which you have known that the owner has been ill.

It is only after a discreet phone call or two concerning the health of the individual involved, that the shock wears off.

So you also learn that, just like the rest of us, Campbell Memorial Chapel must get a new car periodically.

And, then of course, there always is the old car to get rid of, still painted the same, somber distinctive brown.

The model changes but not the color.

-O-

IF THE BUYER of the "old car" happens to be a local resident, rumors can really get off to a flying start when the brown job pulls up in GWEN DAVIS plays "Tuptim" and CHUCK MORK has the role of "Lun Tha".

Four performances (starting tonight, (Wednesday), will be presented in the Campbell High auditorium of the well-known musical, "The King and I", as part of the summer humanities workshop in creative arts that has been conducted in the high school district for the second successive summer.

Following tonight's presentation, repeats will be given on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The curtain goes up at 8 p.m. and admission to the musical is $1.

The cast of more than 100 ranges in age from 4 to 18 with 60 in the orchestra and choral group. Cast members "double" as costumers, makeup experts and set designers as part of the workshop program.

"The King and I", is the long popular Rodgers and Hammerstein adaption of "Anna and the King of Siam". Walt Ritter plays the role of king and Julie Gable has the part of Anna.

"Tuptim", another leading role, is played by Gwen Davis with "Lun Tha" played by Chuck Mork and "Lady Chiang" by Kay Pruvich.

The supporting cast and orchestra give a real "professional" touch to the production, according to those who have watched rehearsals.

Larry McCommas is the musical director and John Hall dramatic. Both are members of the Campbell High faculty.

Park-to-be on creek proves attraction now

Although the county park on Los Gatos Creek (just south of Camden Ave. off Highway 17) within the city limits of Campbell is still in the process of being developed, it even now is attracting a fair share of the "bubble gum set" as well as oldsters, especially on weekends.

Turf still must be planted on the rocky flat ground of the park itself (the sprinklers are in). But that has not deterred both young and old fishermen from trying their luck in the percolation pond that will be part of the recreational complex when completed.

The channel of the creek adjacent to the park-to-be is now overgrown with water-oriented vegetation providing good hunting for minnows and frogs, as the kids have discovered. (Eventually the channel is to become the unattractive straight-up-and-down affair).

The accompanying pictures give some indication of the popularity of Campbell's newest spa, even in its uncompleted stage.

There is a creek here some place, if you can find it.

Campbell C of C selects manager

Campbell's new Chamber of Commerce manager, Leonard (Len) Edholm, of Bakersfield, selected from a long list of applicants by a special C of C committee, will take over his duties here on Monday, August 14, according to Harry Lind, C of C vice-president and chairman of the selection committee.

At the directors meeting this morning, Lind was scheduled to report the committee's procedure that led to Edholm's selection from a varied group of candidates. The selection committee was given the full authority by the directors to choose a successor to Jim Duffield, now manager of the Desert Hot Springs Chamber of Commerce.

The committee, composed of Lind, Dick Hardy, past president; City Manager Bob Stephens and George Vierhus, C of C president "screened" more than 20 applicants and six were interviewed for the position.

Edholm, who will be 29 in October, has been manager of the industrial and commercial development of the Greater Bakersfield Chamber of Commerce for more than two years.

Prior to taking the Bakersfield post, he served for two years as manager of the Camas-Washougal, Washington, Chamber of Commerce where he was responsible for the entire Chamber operation.

Parking protest

At the public hearing on the West Valley College general fund budget set for Thursday, Aug. 3, the Campbell City Council is expected to protest the deletion of the $25,000 item that had been earmarked for additional parking in the Campbell area.

Councilman Homer Hyde is scheduled to represent the city. He will emphasize that additional parking areas may be needed by the college to alleviate the anticipated heavy street parking by college students, long a bone of contention.

A new CofC manager

A new manager has now been selected for the Campbell Chamber of Commerce to replace Jim Duffield, who had made an outstanding record in the two years he served as the local CofC manager.

It was not an easy task that the selection committee of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce, composed of Bob Stephens, city manager; Harry Lind, vice-president; Dick Hardy, past president and George Vierhus, president, was faced with in finding a man to fill the shoes of Duffield.

But the committee members in announcing that Leonard (Len) H. Edholm will become the manager of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce on August 15, firmly believe that they have been fortunate in obtaining his services.

His background, training and experience indicate that he is adequately equipped to perform the duties of manager of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce and to carry on from where Jim left off.

The committee members recognized that they had a grave responsibility to the CofC and the community, for the manager of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce has an ever-increasing role to play in this community. The C of C has in recent years become the strong right arm of the city administration in coordinating community activities.

Another function of the Chamber of Commerce of utmost importance to the community is the cultivating of a healthy industrial and commercial atmosphere.

Len Edholm, the new Chamber of Commerce manager, for the past two years has headed the industrial and commercial development of the Greater Bakersfield Chamber of Commerce.

His experience in this particular field was a major factor in his selection for the Campbell job. The committee realized that this was a phase that constantly needed development locally.

In addition, the new manager of the Chamber has had the previous experience of being manager of a smaller Chamber of Commerce in the state of Washington.

The committee, with the wholehearted support of the entire board of directors, did not feel it was necessary to make a hasty selection, despite the fact that Jim Duffield had to leave to take his new position as manager of Desert Hot Springs Chamber of Commerce some weeks ago.

Before Edholm assumes the toga of manager here, the local CofC will have operated without a manager for more than a month.

Yet a month's time is relatively unimportant in the overall picture.

It is more imperative to be sure, (or as sure as it can be possible under the given circumstances,) that the new manager fits the bill of what is needed here than to fill the position simply because a vacancy exists.

On Page Dam

Recently in the "out on the limb" column in this paper, we touched on the rather sad fact that "engineering progress" had changed the channel of Los Gatos Creek from its natural meandering state to its persent straight up-and-down effect.

We conceded that undoubtedly the water of the creek under the new pattern would get to its destination much more efficiently than before. But "progress" in this instance certainly had not improved the appearance of the creek.

We also expressed concern over the elimination of Page Dam at Camden Ave. and its replacement by a concrete-chute so that the water could move more efficiently in that area also.

We thought that the suggestion of Councilman Ralph Doetsch that a few well-placed boulders in the channel which would allow the water to swirl and bubble a bit would be an improvement over the straight-chute.

But to show that we are not alone in our thinking on the subject, we note that one of our contemporaries in the field, the Los Gatos Times-Observer, has also expressed similar feelings in a recent editorial:

Here is that editorial.

Page Dam To Be Missed

"It is, and has been, good news that a county park is to be constructed on Los Gatos Creek, just north of existing Camden Ave., west of Highway 17. It will be a 10-acre park, and permission has been secured to use the barren and sterile appearing percolation ponds for small sail boats and other water craft.

"Anything that will relieve the awful look of the percolation ponds is all to the good. However, we now understand that Page dam on the creek just north of where the park will be, is to be demolished and a concrete chute, to match the sterility of the ponds, is to replace it.

"Page dam is so constructed to provide a series of small cascades, especially in the winter's heavy flow of water which is a charming sight to the traffic on Highway 17. It was built by, and named for, an engineer who designed it back in the 1930's.

"We hope that if the dam is unsound structurally, it will be replaced by something to make the water fall more gracefully and ostentatiously than just a concrete chute.

"The water conservation district has succeeded over the years in making one of the most magnificent streams in California, Los Gatos Creek, into a concrete-lined ditch for much of its flow. We hope that they can do a little better with Page dam."

front of the house.

That has happened twice quite recently when Campbell Memorial Chapel replaced two of its chapel-brown fleet with new jobs.

The Kurt Ritters on Alice Ave. acquired one of the old brown limousines and the Rev. Ben Gould, of the First Methodist, the other one.

Even now that we know the story, we must admit that we still get a slight start when we see those cars parked on residential streets.

And we probably always will, until the cars are painted a different color.

It just goes to show that there really is something to having a distinctive color, design or sign that people recognize, get used to and associate with a particular establishment.

SPEAKING OF DISTINCTIVE markings, The Press for some time had a Model A pickup all gussied up with a sign.

For practical purposes it had to be replaced with a bigger more modern truck, so the Model A was sold.

But it is still scooting around the countryside, we understand, with The Campbell Press sign on it. As in the case of those chapel-brown limousines of John Faber's, the Model A had become associated with the paper.

Obviously as long as the sign remains on it, it will be a press car. No matter who owns it. We hope it keeps out of trouble.

TRYING TO HELP FIND housing for Campbell's new Chamber of Commerce manager, Len Edholm, has certainly given us an insight into the rental situation in our area. We can now report first hand, there is a definate shortage of rentals.

Len with his wife and two pre-school age kids need a two bedroom rental. Even after putting all the realtor wheels of the CofC to work on the project, a suitable domicile has not yet been found.

Len takes over here on Monday, Aug. 14.

We have promised to keep beating the bushes for him on the housing front with the hope that we will come up with something on a rental basis that would be suitable before he gets here.

If any of you know of a two-bedroom house for rent in Campbell, give the CofC office or The Press a buzz.

Your call will be appreciated.

- O -

THIS HAS NOTHING to do with anything in particular. But a typographical error was caught this week that we were sort of sorry to see corrected.

It was about Page Dam.

A line was supposed to read: "The dam was structually well designed", except an "e" was added to "dam"! So it read: "The DAME was structurally well-designed.....

Service station items feature meeting Monday

Campbell councilmen were scheduled to visit Gov. Ronald Reagan today (Wednesday) in Sacramento when the city and its fire department would be cited for winning the state award in fire prevention.

The hospitalization of the governor has forced the postponement of the visit.

At the last City Council meeting, the council enthusiastically endorsed the request of Air California now before the Public Utilities Commission that would add the San Jose airport to the service now offered by the new airline.

The council also at its last meeting referred the report of the Chamber of Commerce industrial committee relating to recommendations for development of the "Gilman-Dillon-Railway" area to the Planning Commission for study and report.

At the same meeting the council adopted the ordinance that would zone property owned by the Bykowski family at Llewyln and Hamilton avenues, P-D (planned development). The action of the council overruled the recommendation of the Planning Commission.

The council also accepted the 55-lot Leep subdivision which borders on the City of Saratoga city limits.

Councilmen also expressed concern with the problems that continue to arise with the operation of the Winchester Drive-in theater. Drainage and traffic conditions were considered by the council as the chief objections. On weekends, it was pointed out, all the streets adjacent to the theater are clogged with backed-up traffic.

Vice-Mayor Bill Smeed presided at the council meeting in the absence of Mayor Ed Rogers who is attending the national municipal conference in Boston. Mayor Rogers is expected to be back for the next council meeting on Aug. 14.

Illness defers council's visit with Gov. Regan

Three of the six public hearings scheduled by the Planning Commission for next Monday night (Aug. 7) are concerned with the proposed improvement of the Phillips Petroleum service station at Winchester and Hamilton.

The oil company is asking for (1) a variance from 17,000 to 16,500 square feet to allow expansion of the existing non-conforming station; (2) a use permit for expansion of the station and (3) for approval of the plans for improvements.

Other hearings have to do with the prezoning of properties being annexed to the city located on Crockett Ave. between Elam and Winchester; a proposed change in the ordinance regulating billiard parlors and a zone change request of Robert Meyer for property at 1151 S. Virginia Ave.

An appeal from Planning Director Dick Hogan's denial of a free-standing pole sign for Deacon Jones at 2495 Winchester (Campbell Plaza) and a request for plans for an eight-unit apartment at 201 Rose Court are also on the agenda.

Three matters relating to proposed subdivisions are liste for commission on action.

Sales tax goes up one cent

The State Board of Equalization announced this week that the 1967 tax act contains two tax increases which are of immediate concern to consumers and businessmen.

Both of these taxes are administered by the State Board.

The first one increases the State sales and use tax rate from 3 to 4% effective August 1. This will bring the combined State and local rate to 5%.

The new rate will apply to all taxable retail sales made on and after August 1.

The second immediate tax increase is on cigarettes. The State tax on a standard package of 20 cigarettes will be raised from 3 to 7 cents effective August 1, 1967.

County fair offers many improvements

The Santa Clara County Fairgrounds will present several new features on its familiar face when the 23rd Annual Fair (Aug. 18-27 opens its gates this month.

Three new buildings, a new exhibit tent and several welcome improvements to existing facilities will greet Fair-goers this year.

One of the most interesting of the new buildings is the new Floriculture building, a six-sided pavilion-like structure with half-walls.

The floriculture building was built as part of a two-building project. The other building in the package is the new poultry, pigeon and rabbit building, located next to the sheep and swine building in the Southwest quadrant of the Fairgrounds. The combined project was constructed at the cost of $75,000.

The third new building is a modern glass-and-steel cafeteria, a one-story structure designed to accommodate 131 diners inside and outside on a roadside patio. Located just west of the main Grandstand on Mitchell Promenade, the cafeteria was built at a cost of $68,500, and boasts 3,250 square feet of floor space.

A new tent, the Bazaar, will be reserved for demonstration and participation exhibits. This new commercial area will be located near the new cafeteria in approximately the same area once occupied by the old poultry building.

Other improvements and additions to the grounds include an asphalt track located next to the new poultry building. The 85-foot circle will serve as a midget auto race track and as a landing strip for flying model airplanes, one of the many activities featured for young people at the Fair.

Friends fete Linda Gomes at baby shower

Mrs. Franklin Peter Gomes Jr., (Linda Weslow) was the surprised guest of honor at a baby shower last week, held at the home of Mrs. John McKay, 336 Richlee Drive. Mrs. McKay and her co-host, Mrs. Leo Petrucci, decorated the buffet table with a pink cradle filled with flowers and flanked with candlelabra.

The prettily wrapped gifts were piled around the feet of a large stork in the living room, where one wall was covered with a baby poster. Refreshments carried out the pink and blue theme.

Mrs. Gomes is presently presiding with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norbert S. Weslow, 98 N. Carlyn Ave., while Ensign Gomes is on a tour of duty aboard the U.S.S. Mathews.

Among the guests present were the honoree's mother, Mrs. Norbert Weslow, her grandmother, Mrs. John Kwasigroch, and her sisters, Misses Beth and Mary Jo Weslow, and Mesdames Bill Rasmussen, Robert Gorden, George Sylvia, Mark Bihn, Howard Ries, Mitchell Zawalski, Don West, Arthur Blocksom and Misses Candace Callahan, Lorraine Sylvia, Suzanne McKay and Mrs Vincent Petrucci, of Rome, New York.

C-M Pony all-stars gallop on

Campbell-Moreland's Pony Leaguers scored three impressive victories to qualify for sectional play which commences today (Wednesday) at Martinez.

The local entry opened the district tournament last Wednesday by thrashing Santa Clara Mission 10-3. Bob Nickeson was the winning pitcher with Kevin Jasper and Tom Haney coming on in relief.

Highlight of the game was Tom Haney striking out the side after the bases were loaded.

"C-M" came back the next night and went through four Cambrian pitchers as they rapped out a 12-6 victory. Steve Hinckley was the winning pitcher. This game featured Sam LoBue's two home runs, the second coming with the bases loaded. Jeff Lauro also hit for the circuit, his second in as many nights.

SAM LOBUE
--mighty slugger

On Friday night the two losers tangled, and Cambrian bowed out of the tournament 4-3. Behind throughout the contest. Santa Clara managed to tie and then win in the bottom of the 7th.

The Saturday game was a pitching contest all the way. Bob Nickeson was back on the mound for C-M and Santa Clara used one of their aces, Lou Bryan.

Both pitchers left the game at the end of the seven innings due to Pony Leauge rules, with the score still knotted at 0-0.

The C-M All-Stars then went to work on S.C.'s relief pitching in the top of the eighth. Two walks coupled with Bobby Rasmussen's pinch single and Steve Cannady's left field single brought in three runs.

Tom Haney came on in the bottom of the inning to shut out the side and take the game and tournament by identical scores, 3-0.

The only serious S.C. threat occured in the 2nd inning when a runner attempted to score from 2nd on a single and a low throw that went through the third baseman and the pitcher. The pitcher recovered the ball and cut the runner down at the plate with a pinpoint throw.

Board chairman asks removal of obstructions

County Board of Supervisors Chairman Sam P. Della Maggiore has called upon County property owners to eliminage hazardous obstructions to vision at intersections.

Della Maggiore said he has received numerous complaints from drivers who have experienced difficulties seeing oncoming cars at intersections. He said much of the trouble is caused by hedges which have grown to heights of five feet or more.

The Board chairman noted that County ordinance sets a height limit of 36 inches for hedges within 40 feet of intersection. He asked property owners with corner lots to cut back any shrubbery which has exceeded the legal limit.

Della Maggiore pointed to an incident last week in which a man backed out of his driveway, obscured by tall shurbs in his own yard, and was broadsided by another vehicle, traveling safely within the speed limit.

Such incidents are relatively frequent and could easily be avoided with a sharp pair of pruning shears, Della Maggiore said.

"I trust that property owners will recognize the danger in obstructions to vision at intersections, and help avoid both accidents and injuries by eliminating this type of driving hazard," Della Maggiore said.

Rising Repair Costs

NEW YORK—A motorist had to spend $112.60 in 1965 for auto repairs which cost $100 in the period 1957-1959, according to the Insurance Information Institute. Similar repairs cost $86.20 in 1953.

with "Charlie" Gubser

During the Detroit riots majority leaders in the House were quick to accuse Senate minority leader Everett Dirksen of playing politics with tragedy when he placed blame for the race riots at President Johnson's door. Then, in classic "pot calling the kettle black" fashion, they proceeded to blame Republicans for worrying about deficit financing and voting against many Great Society programs. This failure they said, was the true cause of the riots.

Such an attack deserves rational and non-partisan comment.

President Johnson enjoyed fantastic success in the 89th Congress and received almost everything he asked for. The War on Poverty was born and the Appalachia Program begun. More new social programs were started than in any other similar period in our history! The present 90th Congress has not eliminated any of these programs. But, because of the imminence of a gigantic deficit and a tax increase, it has curtailed the President's request for new programs, none of which would have been in operation before the rioting began in Newark and Detroit.

Newark and Detroit are eruptions of frustrations--frustrations which are centuries old and stem from years of discrimination and unjust exploitation of the negro. But there are other frustrations which contributed more immediately to the rioting and the looting. One is the frustration of falsely excited hopes.

Thanks to agitators who use them for political purposes, negroes have been led to believe that Utopia is just around the corner and that money, wealth, prestige, and power would automatically be theirs simply because of their race. Obviously this can't be true and everyone--the clergy, the social workers, the politicians of both parties--is guilty for allowing such a false and unrealistic impression to obsess the negro and distort his rationality.

It is significant that the rise of "Black Power" and today's rioting erupted in the midst of history's greatest surge toward the granting of Civil Rights and during a concentrated effort to upgrade those who live in poverty.

Detroit has one of the better anti-poverty setups, a highly developed slum clearance program, good public health, housing, and rat control programs With the boom in auto manufacturing, negro unemployment is virtually non-existent and the UAW is one of the few unions which has truly integrated.

With all this, why was Detroit burned, "Whitey" shot down by snipers' bullets and why were negro stores looted?--Because our social programs have been ballyhooed for political benefit and unrealistic promises which raised false hoped have been made. Sometimes their administrators have labeled the "establishment" as the enemy of the poor and encouraged hostility against it.

It is time we were candid with the negro and let him know that social programs will take time and that what he wants is not his just for the asking--but is available and possible--if he wants to work for it like everyone else.

College Briefs

INSTITUTE

Albert J. Riendeau, dean of Vocational and Technical Education at West Valley College, has just returned from participating in the first nationwide institute for Vocational and Technical Education Public Information Officers, held at Georgia State College, Atlanta, Ga.

CANDIDATE

West Valley College board members have nominated one of their number, William J. Homan, who resides in the Campbell Union High School District Trustee area as a candidate for membership on the newly-created Delegate Assembly of the California School Boards Association.

There will be 10 members of the 148-man assembly elected on a statewide basis, to represent junior colleges, and they will be chosen at-large in an election period between Sept. 15 and Oct. 31.

SJS LIBRARY

Schematic plans for an 18 story library, which will radically change the skyline of San Jose State College, have been approved by the Board of Trustees of the California State Colleges at their last meeting.

The Board unanimously accepted the recommendation of its Committee on Campus Planning, Buildings and Grounds to move ahead with the $10.8 million project.

When completed in 1971, the building will be 243 feet high, lacking slightly more than 40 feet of being the tallest building in the city.

Listing shows duplicate names of postmasters

The surnames of Jones, Brown, and Green take a back seat in prominence to Johnson, Miller, James, and Anderson in the ranks of California postmasters.

Ken W. Dyal, director of the San Francisco Region of the Post Office Department, said a tabulation of postmaster in California, the nation's most populous state, showed seven Johnsons, seven Millers, and six each of James, Smith, Anderson, Williams, and Wilson serving as postmasters.

Other popular names appearing several times on the roster of the 1221 California postmasters include Campbell, Clark, King, Mills, Murphy, Phillips, Wood, and Wright.

Dean of the postmasters with the most popular surname is Leslie A. Johnson, who has been postmaster at Escalon since April 10, 1934. Mrs. Viola Anderson of Greenwood, El Dorado county, ranks second in the listing with service dating from Oct. 1, 1938.
